PRELIMINARY HEARING OF GEO. W. ALLEN
STILL IN PROGRESS AT COUNTY SEAT TODAY

"THAT'S THE MAN," VEHEMENTLY DECLARED SISTER OF THE DEAD MAN

LENA HAMES POSITIVE IN IDENTIFICATION BUT SHOWED WOEFUL IGNORANCE OF OTHER MATTERS AND THINGS ON CROSS-EXAMINATION"I'LL LEAVE NOTHING UNDONE TO PREVENT RAILROADING ALLEN"

—Judge Roy P. Hamlin

"I'll leave nothing undone to prevent the railroading of Allen to the penitentiary," declared Judge Roy P. Hamlin, counsel for the accused man, in court today.George W. Allen, of Fairbault, Minn., who with his wife has been living at 407 North Beach street was today undergoing preliminary hearing on the charge of implicacy in the killing of Grady Hames at Daytona Beach on the night of December 26, when Arthur Hames, father of the dead man was taken out by a band of masked men and whipped, the alleged cause of his treatment, so the elder Hames afterwards told.
Lena Hames, the hearing was held before Judge J. Lee McGro-ry, the state being represented by States Attorney David Sholtz, while Judge Roy P. Hamlin defended the accused."That certainly is the man who was grappling with my father while the little fellow was shooting my brother," vehemently declared Lena Hames.
The state opened the preliminary by laying the foundation of the case, questioning the Hames girl as to who she was, whether or not she knew her brother to be dead, and whether or not the killing took place in Volusia county and the date of the killing.
The state's attorney then asked her if she could recognize the assassins of her father and she declared that she could and "that man is one of them," she said, pointing to Mr. Allen, who was sitting beside his counsel, Judge Roy P. Hamlin.On cross examination the Hames girl said she was 23 years old, had lived in Daytona Beach for 19 years, at the Ohio House for about five months, had been married, divorced and that she has one child. She did not know the name of the street upon which the Ohio House is located, could not tell in what direction the Atlantic ocean was from the Ohio House and was very indefinite and uncertain in all of her answers except that she was positive of the identification of Mr. Allen.Questioned as to how she arrived at the identification of Allen on the night of the killing she said that she saw him in the hall.
"I do not know what kind of clothes that he wore," because I was too scared to notice, but I do know positively he is the man; I remember his face and the shiny buckle on his belt," she declared.The Hames girl said that the first time she saw Allen was on the Tuesday night preceding the killing, that he wore a light suit of clothes. On the night of the killing, so she testified, she did not notice what kind of a suit he wore. On cross examination later by Judge Hamlin she said she knew "it was not a dark suit." She admitted that she testified at the coroner's inquest that "the 'big man' wore a dark suit on the night of the killing. Asked what she did after her brother was shot she said she did her utmost to kill the men who were fleeing with her father, as her brother had said before he dropped: "Get them, Lena, if you can." She said that her father is at the present time ill and was unable to come to Daytona for the preliminary hearing but that he would come as soon as he is able."Would you know the 'little man' if you saw him? Is he in the court room now," asked Judge Hamlin on cross-examination. "I don't know; I have not looked 'em over," she responded.
"Are you positive that is the man who was grappling with your father," ask-ed States Attorney Sholtz just before the Hames girl left the witness stand.
"Yes sir, it is; yes sir, I am positive," she said.

First Saw Allen Tuesday Previous

She said that she first saw Allen on the Tuesday evening previous to the Sunday night on which her brother was killed. That was the night, she testified, that her father was first taken out and whipped. She said she came home from watching a dance about 9:30 and that Allen with Jack Crowell and Mazie Livingston were standing across the street from the Ohio house when she came in to her apartment.
She testified that she never saw Allen previously but saw him again the Friday following the killing, when she pointed him out to Deputy Sheriff T.
O. Milton as one of her father's assailants. She was asked if he was arrested at that time and she said he was not. She was asked if she knew why Allen was not at that time arrested and she said she did not.Lena Hames said, however, that when she returned home Friday after seeing Allen on the street and recognizing him she did not tell her father but told him when they arrived at Marietta. She said the night of the killing the only remark she made to the "big man" was "Ain't it windy?"The court room was crowded with spectators during the preliminary today, many of the onlookers being tourists. With Lena Hames the only witness testifying, court adjourned at noon to resume the preliminary at 1:00 o'clock.

Fireworks Occurred Yesterday

For a few moments yesterday spectacular language flowed in the court room when Sheriff Morris came walking into the court room at 10 o'clock with Allen in custody.When court convened Attorney Hamlin asked of the court as to what witnesses had been summoned and States Attorney David Sholtz replied that the state had but one witness to present Lena Hames, who was present when the shots were fired that killed young Grady Hames in the fracas that occurred in Daytona Beach several weeks ago. The court room was well filled with both Deland and Daytona people, the coast folks according to the preponderance. Attorney Hamlin spoke feelingly of the fact that since George Allen was arrested last Tuesday on a blank warrant charged with being one of the party who roughed up the Hames household and killed young Grady Hames not a soul had been allowed to visit and talk with him until Saturday when his wife and mother-in-law were allowed to visit the jail but had to conduct their conversation in the presence of a deputy sheriff. Attorney Hamlin further stated that he had been kept in ignorance as to the time when the preliminary hearing was to be held. He then asked permission of the court to converse with the accused in private. There was considerable stir in the court room but Attorney Sholtz in a whispered conversation with Judge McGrovy, and Sheriff Morris, conceded this right to Mr.
Hamlin when Sheriff Morris spoke up and said that deputies would have to be on the job. Attorney Hamlin then told the court a few things that they could do, and finally permission was granted for the private interview with deputies placed around the jury room.Mr. Hamlin told the sheriff he might guard the windows with 400 deputies and call out the fire department if it pleased the sheriff to do so, but that he would consult with his client privately or else the hearing would not proceed.After this interview had been concluded Attorney Hamlin asked the court that the preliminary hearing be postponed until Tuesday in order that he would have the time to summon a number of witnesses in behalf of Mr. Allen.

Hames Girl Shows Hatred

Sitting forward in the witness chair, with body tense, and every faculty strained to catch and reflect the feeling of bitter hatred and vengeance, Lena Hames, accused of Geo. W. Allen answered in clear tones, mixed with a generous supply of slangy terms, theGREAT CEREMONIAL PLANNED FOR THE
BURIAL OF SOLDIER

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A ceremonial participated in by every person in the United States, when an unknown soldier of the World War is buried in Arlington cemetery, was recommended by General Pershing today, supporting a bill introduced in the House for that purpose. "Every activity throughout the United States should pause for a half hour" when the burial is made, he said. Pershing said a battleship should be sent to France to bring the body home and the president and highest officers should conduct the ceremonies. "It would be a ceremonial to every mother of a dead boy," said Pershing.questions fired at her during the hearing this morning, when she maintained, against the expectations of many, that Allen was the "big man" he had described at the coroner's inquest, who carried away her father on the night after Christmas.Dressed in a black tailored suit, with hat and shoes and stockings to match, which clothes she testified she wore on the fatal night, the drawn lines of the face, the pinched cheeks and expression of harrowed distress which she has been through the past month as chief witness to the killing of her brother.Allen's Wife Affectionate As the prisoner passed out of the court room in custody of Sheriff Morris at the noon hour, his wife gently patted him on the cheek and shook her faith in him by saying "O, you darling." Mrs. Allen and her mother, Mrs. Clark, as well as the other witnesses for the defense, Dwight R. Stillman, were not allowed to remain in the court room during the testimony of the Hames girl.

Hearing Resumed After Noon

Mr. Allen took the stand this afternoon in his own defense. He said that on the evening of December 26 he took dinner with Dwight R. Stillman and his wife and her mother, Mrs.
Miller. That he was not at Daytona Beach on that day; that he played cards with Mr. Stillman in whose house he is residing until late that night; that he never knew Arthur Hames or Grady Hames; that he does not own a gun and never did own one.
At 6:00 o'clock the case was still under way with little prospect of concluding before night.Germans Paying Millions to the Former Kaiser; Nine Millions in The Past Year, the Records Show(Newspaper Enterprise Association.) PARIS, Feb. 1.—While France and England have been hickering over what reparations Germany must pay, and whether Germany can pay at all, the German government has been paying reparations by the millions to William Hohenzollern and his wife and kin.Already Germany has paid to the exiled kaiser at least $9,140,000 of which there is official record, the total may greatly exceed this amount, for it is generally accepted that more millions have been smuggled across the Holland border to the Hohenzollern coffers.The criticism in France is echoed in the mutterings from the underfed, underpaid, tax-burdened tollers of Germany.

Payments Made

The legal committee of the Prussian assembly recently demanded of the Prussian finance minister that he give an accounting of the sums paid Hohenzollern since he fled to Holland.
These sums were reported by him as follows:

January, 1919	$7,500,000
August, 1919	725,000
October, 1919	415,000

Since then about $500,000 more has been paid to him as proceeds from land in Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin.On top of this came the revelations

William's Fortune

Figures from Doorn show William Hohenzollern is paying tax to Holland on an income of $50,000 a year which would indicate that he admits having fortune of $12,500,000.Recently the ex-Crown Prince Frederick William expressed it as his "dearest wish" that he should retain the castle of Hamberg, the Marble Palace at Potsdam and the royal territory of Cels, an estate of about 25, 000 acres, valued at $1,500,000.Herr Hellmann, Socialist deputy, proposed out to the assembly that by the terms of the treaty deed the land was to be held "by the crown prince of the time," but he argued as there was now no crown prince, it reverted to the commonwealth.The ex-crown prince is paying to Holland tax on an income of $17,200 a year, which indicates he acknowledges property worth about $350,000.
Duke Asks $5,000,000The Duke of Brunswick, who married the ex-kaiser's only daughter and who was the first to flee from Germany, recently demanded of the republican government of Brunswick that it give him back his large forests and iron mines and other property, or $5,000,000 cash. Failure to do this he said he would bring suit.The government replied that this property belonged to the state.

THE SHORTEST MONTH
In the old days when the Roman rulers had nothing else to worry about, they did something to the calendar.

And February, it appears, was a victim. Originally this perfectly good month had 30 days in leap year and 29 in other years. February is from the Latin, meaning "to purify." It was the custom of the Romans to celebrate the festival of purification in February.

Julius Caesar named July in his own honor—he say to it there were 31 days in it. Then along came Augustus, and a month was named for him also. But August had only 30 days. So Augustus looked around and picked on February, which had no one particularly to defend it. He just took a day off February and added it to his own pet month.

That's why February ordinarily has but 28 days, and why August has 31, in keeping with the dignity of its imperious namesake.

THE LINCOLN HOME TRAIL

For long years the people of southern Indiana have urged that Indiana pay fitting tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln by making it possible for all Americans to have easy access to the boyhood home of the martyred president.

They pointed to the woeful lack of passable roads through the territory where the boy Lincoln lived and worked, studied and played; where he laid the foundation stone of his character and his career. They asked the state to construct at least one good highway running past, or through, the land once included in the Lincoln farm.

Already these lovers of Lincoln had caused monuments to be erected upon the hallowed spots of Lincoln memories. They had marked the grave of Lincoln's mother. They had preserved the Lincoln church. They had set apart a portion of the farm for the Nancy Hanks Memorial park. All the corners and nooks intimate with Lincoln's boyhood days have been thus preserved.

But there was no highway that the outside world might travel to this hallowed Lincoln land.

More recently the state appropriated money for the construction of a highway a portion of it to run from Dale to Gentryville, and which was to be known as the Lincoln Home Trail. So far, so good!

But the state highway commission of Indiana has routed this highway so far west of the trail Abe Lincoln trod when he was a boy that it will entirely miss every one of the famous Lincoln landmarks.

Only the governor of Indiana, Warren T. McCray, can force this highway commission to reroute the Lincoln Home Trail. He can remove the members of the commission if they refuse, and name new commissioners.

TURK PEACE TREATY IS CALLED GREATEST TRAVESTY OF JUSTICE

(The Associated Press)

NAGPUR, India, Feb. 1.—The Turkish peace treaty was characterized as "the greatest travesty of justice, a monument of hypocrisy and the blackest breach of solemn pledges," by Dr. Ansar in his address as president at the annual session of the All India Muslim League today. He demanded its revision which he declared, there seemed little doubt was being seriously considered by the allies.

The speaker denounced "the horrors of the Punjab reign of terror" and supported the non-co-operation movement in progress among the natives as a protest against British rule.

"There is a divine injunction to Musselmans to practice non-co-operation against the opponents of Islam," said Dr. Ansar. "There appears to be a deadlock between the bureaucracy and the people of India which is entirely because of self-respect and is determined no longer to submit to a secondary position, whereas the bureaucracy is still thinking in obsolete terms of governing with the mailed fist."

"In order to win the co-operation of the people of India, our alien friends must first of all disabuse their minds of the idea of race supremacy and do ample penance for past wrongs."

WILL EDUCATE THE CHILDREN OF MEN KILLED IN THE WAR

MELBOURNE, Feb. 1.—The Australian government has undertaken to educate the children of Australian soldiers killed or totally incapacitated in the world war. At least 12,000 children are expected to benefit.

The plan covers the whole range of the educational curriculum, in industrial, agricultural and professional courses, together, where necessary, with periods of apprenticeship and a subsidy by way of sustenance while undergoing such training. A fund of approximately $6,500,000 is on hand, which includes a grant from the federal government of $4,000,000 and a transfer from the Repatriation Trust fund of approximately $2,500,000. Large contributions are assured from other sources.

LATEST NEWS OFF THE TICKER FROM NEW YORK MARKET

(Dow Jones Service.)

There will be a new financial conference at Brussels next week between the Allies and Germany on the indemnity question.

Local bankers believe the German indemnity too high, while Judge Gary of the Steel corporation believes Germany can and will meet the demands.

The railroad unions have asked the president to have an investigation made by the Interstate Commerce Commission into railroad finances, following a statement of W. W. Atterbury before the labor board that roads must have national agreements with men abrogated or they will be in danger of bankruptcy.

Thomson & McKinnon's stock letter today says: "The Federal Reserve board monthly review makes fairly good reading but does not disclose any important changes for the better. In fact the report points out an increase in unemployment. The real disturbing element at this time is the controversy that is developing between the railroads and employees. The old wound is being reopened. I think this will have a tendency to neutralize some of the improvement that is taking place in industry and for the present discourage more extensive public participation in the market."

MAN AGED EIGHTY IS SUING FOR DIVORCE

(International News Service.)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 1.—Age is no barrier to applicants for divorce. Solomon Robinson, aged 80, is suing his wife, Miranda Robinson, aged 79, for a divorce. He bases his ground for a decree on the fact that his wife deserted him and wouldn't come back to him. His wife answers that she left him because she could not stand his ill treatment any longer.

Judge Lazell in entertaining an order awarding the defendant $75 counsel fees declared it appeared from the record that the "litigants in this case had reached the age where preparations for the other world were more timely and in keeping with all circumstances than a suit for the dissolution of matrimonial bonds."

Tourist Suggests Reasons for One Large City Here

Mr. and Mrs. Julius B. Kirby of Saginaw, Mich., with daughters, Geraldine and Pauline, are spending a few weeks at the Beach and are among the many recent arrivals at the Seaside Inn. He was here about five years ago and was so well impressed then that he has brought his family with him this time. He thinks this is a city of wonderful possibilities, but is sorry that there is not more active co-operation between the three municipalities hereabouts.

Mr. Kirby is by profession a lawyer and was in active practice for 20 years or more, but for the past four years has been the manager of the Board of Commerce of his city. With reference to what his organization has been able to accomplish he said to a News representative:

"Within the four years we have brought to Saginaw eighteen million dollars' worth of substantial industries and added 18,000 names to the roll of employees. Formerly we had five so-called public organizations, including Board of Trade, Business Men's Association and similar separate associations in West, North and South Saginaw. They were composed in the main of good men, but put their entire efforts in working for their own particular section. As a result, no one of them was able to raise sufficient funds to accomplish anything worth while, and the entire city was at a standstill for years. There was practically no industrial expansion whatever. After a campaign of two weeks we succeeded in having the charters of all of the five organizations surrendered and all of them amalgamated into one central force. Then we began to co-operate and then we began to accomplish things that seemed impossible before. We had 1,300 members with a membership fee of $25 each, which gave us an immediate working fund of $32,500. We have raised and spent since we got going in this way $12,000.00 for the good of our cities, and now there is no stopping its growth. Our experience is that every million dollars properly expended added one thousand men to the city's payroll and that every $1,000 spent right added one man. This looks like a big price, but it pays well in the end. We held seven elections to raise funds for a satisfactory water supply and failed, but at our eighth trial we succeeded when we turned out to Saginaw Bay, a distance of 24 miles, and now we have one of the best water plants in the country and all the first class water we can use. We won the last time by a 6 to 1 vote. One of the obstacles we had to contend with is similar to the one you have here—our city is divided by a river. But we finally secured enough hearty co-operation until we induced all of our best citizens to imagine that this river had been filled up and as soon as we were able to wipe out in the minds of all sections of the city this imaginary boundary line we were able to go ahead and get things for every locality of the city. We have succeeded in bringing to Saginaw a class of industries that are successful and permanent. We had nothing to do with it by night concerns."

Referring to this observation of local conditions, Mr. Kirby said: "It does seem to me these three cities ought to have one name, one corporation and one purpose to heighten and benefit every foot of these attractive acres for miles about for which generous nature has done so much. I am surprised that the progressive men of your city have not long ago seen to it that all along your matchless beach within the corporations of both Daytona Beach and Seabreeze, it has been an attractive beauty spot or show place. How grand it would look covered with green and flowers. It could easily be made one of the most beautiful spots in the world and at a nominal cost. Another thing, your toll bridges are an awful nuisance and cannot help but retard the growth and interfere with the prosperity of these cities. It is not so much the price of the toll, but in these busy and bustling automobile times people do not like to be inconvenienced in being held up when they are in a hurry. These cities can well afford to do away with these

Harry Leiter Opera Coming Friday Night

On Friday evening, February 4, at the Auditorium, the regular assembly number will be The Harry Leiter Light Opera company.

There will ever be a popular craving for the old familiar opera scenes. The person is musically dead, indeed, who does not long to hear and see again the gems from such old favorites as "The Mikado," "La Boheme," "Rob in Hood," "Il Trovatore"—and the rest—for you know them all.

These are the pictures which the Leiter Opera company actually bring before you—the old sweet harmonies which just tug away at your heart-strings just as they did the first time you heard them. The scenes are staged in costume, adding materially to the effectiveness of the classics.

And then there is the modern light opera—"The Philosopher and the Lady," for instance, a tawdry, catchy little musical farce which was exclusively presented by the Leiter company during the past summer for the first time, and which made a decided hit from the initial presentation. The moderns are done in costume, too, with the same careful attention to stage values, settings and musical appreciation, that characterizes the offering of the old familiar operatic scenes.

The Leiter company is a high-grade musical organization. Hazel Huntley, contralto, is an artist of exceptional ability and for some years was soloist in the First Congregational church of Evanston, Ill. Margie Cook, soprano, has a voice of remarkable purity and flexibility. She was presented in concert at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, recently and won instantaneous favor. Joseph Kendrick, tenor, has decided gifts in his artistry. For 10 years he was soloist in Chicago's Woodlawn Park Presbyterian church. He has a voice of rare beauty. The baritone, Mr. Clayton Quayle, possesses a voice of rare, rich quality, and like the other vocalists, is an artist of rare accomplishment.

Harmon Burch holds an enviable place among the younger American pianists. He is a thorough musician and has an ideal technique far above the average in Lyceum work.

Major Frank Snyder of Red Cross Tells of His Experiences

Major and Mrs. Frank G. Snyder of Jewell, Iowa, arrived Saturday and will spend some time at the Beach during the season. They are registered at a local hotel, where they will remain about a week or until he gets his fill of fishing in the ocean, when they will make a tour of other Florida resorts, after which they will return here for the balance of the season.

Major Snyder was with the Red Cross during the war and had charge of the supply warehouse at Givres, France. He was one of those who donated his services to his country when it was in trouble and did not receive a single cent in compensation for all he did—only his actual and necessary expenses. He has been a merchant all his life and is now engaged in the automobile business. With regard to his Red Cross duties he said: "More than thirty million dollars' worth of supplies was handled by the warehouse of which I was in charge. It was connected with the intermediate station of the S. O. S. We had about a hundred colored men assisting us. We did not sell a single thing, but gave everything away. We had two sources of supply—goods that were donated and goods that were purchased with the funds collected by the Red Cross. Such things as sweaters, socks, handkerchiefs, tobacco, pipes and other little luxuries we gave to our boys only, but our other displays we gave to the needy of all of people of the allied nations. We gave a great deal to the families of the French and Belgian soldiers. Then we found a great deal of opportunity to relieve suffering. It was a great work, and although it was burdened with sacrifices and hardships, I will never regret that I offered my services and did my bit."

Major and Mrs. Snyder have two sons, both of whom were soldiers and were across and in the thickest of the fighting. They express themselves as delighted with Daytona Beach and say that this is by far the most wonderful beach they ever saw.

EUGENE O'BRIEN PICTURE COMING THURSDAY NIGHT

One of the most enjoyable moving picture events of the season will be produced at the Auditorium Thursday night, February 3. Here is what a leading eastern newspaper says of it:

One of the biggest night scenes that has ever been made for a motion picture occurs in the forthcoming Selznick picture, "Broadway and Home," starring Eugene O'Brien.

Over two thousand persons from Boston, Salem, Lynn, Beverly and Gloucester, Mass., crowded the sea wall in Gloucester to witness the staging of this scene when the picture was in course of production.

The scene shows the blowing up of a yacht after it had crashed on the rocks after a terrific storm. In order to create the desired effect, a new double generating set, the largest owned by any motion picture company, and the entire fire department of Gloucester were used.

The powerful generator furnished the required current for the 100,000 candle power are lamps used for the necessary illumination, and the fire department was necessary to continually pump water in front of two huge aeroplane propellers in order to provide the necessary rain and wind-storm effect.

To blow up the yacht a fuse, timed for six minutes, was placed, but the film in the camera was only enough to last a four-minute grind. A few turns were made every few seconds, but at the end of six minutes the explosion did not come. It came four minutes later, however, and the three cameras focussed on the yacht had just enough negative left in their magazines to get the picture.

Alan Crosland, who directed the picture, says that the last four minutes were the longest in his entire existence.

Associated Charities Will Serve Noon-Day Luncheon at South Ridgewood Ave. School

At the annual meeting of the Associated Charities, held at the local offices Monday evening, a plan was formulated, after considerable discussion for the serving of noon-day luncheon at the South Ridgewood avenue school with the object in view of increasing the efficiency of the children.

A committee was appointed composed of Mrs. F. A. Parker, secretary of the Associated Charities; Mrs. Geo. N. Chamberlin, principal of the school; Dr. Josie Rodgers, school physician, and two women to be appointed from the Mother's club, to be named later.

The plan to furnish luncheon in the local schools is an experiment, and will be given a thorough trial of at least one month, following which the public will be informed as to the results, and if successful will be continued and perhaps increased to other schools.

Special attention will be given by the committee to children who do not seem to be in robust health, and by this means, it is hoped that these children, properly fed at the noon-day luncheons may improve in health and happiness.

In some of the larger cities noon-day luncheons are served pupils, and in each instance the plan has found to work with great success. The Associated Charities is to be congratulated upon their plans, which, it is hoped will work for the great good for which it is intended.

Elect Officers

The annual election of officers for the ensuing year was held last evening as well as the following being chosen officers to conduct the work of the organization for 1921.

President—J. H. Meagley.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. M. L. Stanley.
Second Vice Pres.—B. Foster.
Corresponding secretary—Dr. Josie Rodgers.

All are re-elected to the offices which they have conducted the past year with such great success, their selection for officers this year being assured on their splendid record.

May Put in Trained Nurse

Plans were also formulated last evening to put a trained nurse in service in Daytona, who can give the health of the school children special attention. These plans are being worked out by the executives of the Associated Charities, who hope soon to be able to complete arrangements for the employment of such a trained nurse.

The reports of the year, which have been published and which were delivered last evening, showed the great growth in the organization the past year, a most optimistic spirit permeated upon their plans, which, it is

Thirty Prominent Residents Will Be Guests Wednesday of Chamber Commerce, Hotel Men

Every indication points to the great booster meeting of merchants and winter residents of the Halifax country Wednesday evening, when winter residents to the number of thirty, will be guests of the Daytona Chamber of Commerce and the Daytona Hotel Men's Association at a banquet to be held at the Hotel Ridgewood beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

The only purpose of the banquet and discussion which will follow is that a spirit of co-operation and good will be established among the merchants of the city and those who have chosen this community as their residence during the winter months, that a greater feeling of good will and co-operation may be the outgrowth of the meeting where views on subjects for the up-building of the magnificent country surrounding Daytona will be disseminated and a general spirit of good fellowship will result.

The meeting, as planned jointly by the Chamber of Commerce and hotel men has met with the instant approval of the members, and a large number of winter residents who will be invited guests, have already signified their intention of attending.

Secretary S. B. Crosby of the Chamber of Commerce has today mailed to all members of that organization invitations to attend, as well as a special letter to all guests, persons attending being asked to notify him not later than 10 o'clock tomorrow morning of their intentions.

A list of speakers has been drawn up, a toastmaster selected, and all details arranged for the banquet and addresses which will follow.

List of Guests

HOTEL DESPLAND

Manager Butterfield of the Despland hotel is an authority on most things pertaining to the hotel business, but few of his friends were aware that he was an expert in matters musical.

That he is was shown by the concert given Sunday evening at the hotel. It was listened to and deeply appreciated by over 100 of the guests and many townspeople, who were attracted by the announcement that Mr. Dytch, the conductor, would render one of his favorite flute solos, "For All Eternity," by Marchetti. It was beautifully rendered and enthusiastically applauded. Mr. Dytch is well known in musical circles, having appeared as a soloist in some of the best musical organizations of the country.

Another number that is worthy of special mention was the piano solo, "Polonaise," in C sharp minor by Chopin, rendered by Edward Fritz. His technique and execution were pronounced well nigh faultless by competent musical critics in the audience.

Mr. Butterfield is to be congratulated in securing what is probably the best hotel orchestra that ever played before critical Daytona audiences, most of whom have heard the leading artists of the country in musical lines.

Miss Marion Harris, the famous musical artist, who delighted an appreciative audience at the Auditorium last evening, spent yesterday afternoon at the Beach with her party. They took moving pictures of the attractive ocean front views, and as a climax of the afternoon activities Miss Harris took a way up ride above the clouds with Aviator Bill Lindsey. She expressed herself as delighted with her experience.

Many of the Georgia cities in America after trying other places, have become permanent residents of Atlantic City, and events that prove to their credit that conditions here are unique. The Atlantic nation appears to have no such an other place. For instance, the capital city of the state after being destroyed following the burning of the city of Georgia, and then spending two or three years to build, has again been the permanent home of the state and has been a better condition in the future.

Many other cities in America are now doing the same thing. Atlanta is also considering to Atlantic City and now has a lot of government money being raised in the city.

The Invitation

WE, the undersigned property owners and tax payers in the TRIPLE CITIES, hereby extend to you a most hearty invitation to call this "home" if you are not already permanently located in this community. Here you will find a perfect blending of agreeable, beautiful climate, and charming inspiring scenery, with wholesome, delightful people.

Many of the foremost men in America after trying other places have become permanent residents of Daytona and vicinity, thus proving by their works that considered from all angles the Daytona section appeals to them as does no other place. For instance, the richest man in the world after trying Southern California for several years and then Georgia, and then spending two or three winters here, has made this his permanent winter home, and has built a beautiful residence on the Halifax.

Many others, leaders in American life, have done the same thing. Probably no other community in America can show such a list of prominent winter home owning residents.
